

Supplementary Fig. S2. Comparison of synchronization efficiency before and after treatment with different methods. The bar graph shows the proportion of synchronized Plasmodium falciparum parasites before (pre-synchronization) and after treatment with various synchronization methods, as determined by microscopic examination of Giemsa-stained blood smears.